

Ambrosia Blue

Words & Music by Danielle Bisutti (Copyright © ASCAP 2004)

If I told you what I was thinking now
I'd be afraid of just how you would sound
I think I'm no better
Than the last time I saw ground
I love my new sweater
It's cold when you're around
He took me out
Wore me in
Said "please don't shout
It's just a little debt
I do regret, hey but it's what life's about"
Chains and pretty fences
Where I lost my sweet defenses
Did you think some day
That I would soon forget?
A penny for your thoughts
In these jeans do I look hot
Lay it down in here
You pay for what you get

To my dismay
I went and lost my way
And I cannot seem to find
My way back home
It's hard to say
Why I like to play
With all these pretty fires
And the liars on my own

AMBROSIA BLUE

I was to you

AMBROSIA BLUE

Your daughter, true

AMBROSIA BLUE

I'll never tell who

AMBROSIA BLUE

Just a small sacrifice will do

And now that He's gone
I can sing my little song
"Ah la da da da what ever shall I do?
And so I call YOU up

Come and fill my fragile cup
And then tear me down
And fix me with your glue
Around the circus pinwheel
Can you feel what I feel?
It's hard but some ones
Got to pay the bills
A little runny nose
Like my stockings with those holes
It's a movie dear
And Im the starring role

To my dismay
I went and lost my way
And I cannot seem to find
My way back home
It's hard to say
Why I like to play
With all these pretty fires
And the liars on my own

AMBROSIA BLUE

I was to you

AMBROSIA BLUE

Your daughter, true

AMBROSIA BLUE

I'll never tell who

AMBROSIA BLUE

Just a small sacrifice will do