

Borderline Integrity

Words & Music by Danielle Bisutti (Copyright 2003)

A sliver, a pinch, give me an inch
I'll take a full yard
I try to resist this here itch
But you know it's too hard
My vision it spirals
Promises of what I could be
I'm dizzy, I'm tired
Of one step forward and then back three

This hurts me, I keep crying
This hurts me, I keep crying
This hurts me, I keep crying
At the choices I am making
To keep me pacified and faking

It's BORDERLINE INTEGRITY
And so justified
As if there was such a thing
You've got me shaking
It's BORDERLINE INTEGRITY
And so justified
As if there was such a thing
You've got me shaking, yes
You've got me faking it, yes

Deserving and worthy are empty
So I hurt the fleshy part
Bingeing, purging, venting
Then tomorrow make a new start
I'm fixing, falling, stalling
Masochistic mediocrity
The future is calling
And I'm too busy arguing with me
It's not funny, I keep laughing
It's not funny, I keep laughing
It's not funny, I keep laughing

At the choices I am making
To keep my pacified and faking

It's BORDERLINE INTEGRITY

And so justified
As if there was such a thing
You've got me shaking

It's BORDERLINE INTEGRITY

And so justified
As if there was such a thing
You've got me shaking, yes
You've got me faking it, yes

This hurts me, I keep crying
It's not funny, I keep laughing
It's not funny, I keep laughing
At the choices I am making
To keep me pacified and faking

It's BORDERLINE INTEGRITY

And so justified
As if there was such a thing
You've got me shaking

It's BORDERLINE INTEGRITY

And so justified
As if there was such a thing
You've got me shaking, yes
You've got me faking it, yes